Deb Yesenosky of Adams Avenue said, there is water running down my neighbors driveway and to get the mail you have to get a 1/4 of the way out on the street. It's creating an inch to 1 1/2 inches of mud so the mailman goes by. . the newspaper guy goes by and spreads it the full length of the driveway. Chairman Baker asked, is that the Garth driveway? Yesenosky answered, yes. After you did the road project. . they slanted it. . everything comes in my driveway. . we never had this problem before. Vice-Chairman Wallet said, it changed the profile of the road. . the only thing I see we can do. . you can't cut this down to drain the water. . it's just not practical. Yesenosky said, on this side of Garth's driveway, you guys put this big culvert in. If you would run the water that way, it would go downhill. The rainwater in front of my house. . I keep that open, keep the weeds out and even put cinders down so it runs really good. Baker said, I'm amazed the water makes a right turn. Yesenosky said, that's how they slanted it. Wallet said, there's a hole there. . that's why it collects there. Yesenosky said, I called out during a storm and asked someone from the road crew to come out so they could see. There's a pipe, but that pipe is no longer effective. My father put that in when we had a shale driveway to prevent the water from washing out all the shale. Since we got the driveway paved, the water runs down the driveway. The mud is the big problem as my mom has to walk out onto the road around the mud to get the mail or paper. Wallet said, we'll get it fixed up. . it's probably going to be a cut and patch thing. The only way to make the water go downhill is to fill in the hole and raise it up. Yesenosky said, we didn't have this problem until we fixed the road. Wallet said, it needed fixed. You got to understand that when you do that, your driveway was made to match the old road and then when you add blacktop to it, the new road is raised up because you're adding a layer. We'll do what we can to fix you up and soon.
